

Cisco WebEx Meeting Center

Enable Video Call-Back for WebEx Meetings

A video address connects your video system or application to a WebEx meeting or a meeting host's Personal Room. To join or start a scheduled meeting, dial the video address.

You own a virtual conference room that has three permanent addresses—Web URL, video address, and call-in phone numbers. You can dial the video address to start a meeting in your room at any time. People can join you in your Personal Room by dialing the same video address every time.

You can also join the meeting from your video system by having the meeting call your video system.

1. In your Preferences, select Video Systems.
2. Add the details for a maximum of five video addresses.

The video system you select as default is used in your meetings as the video call-back option.

3. In the Audio and Video Connection dialog box the Quick Start page, select Call My Video System.

Note You can also manually enter a video system address.

You will receive a call from the meeting to your video system.